Yes, yes and yes exposure limits should be more restrictive for human exposure to radio frequency radiation.

I, Sherry Dingler, have suffered for years due to exposure to EMFs. (electro magnetic fields). I have experienced horrible pain and feelings of being electrocuted. Also, the horrible ear ringing that comes from this problem sounds like a million crickets chirping at the same time. The more cell towers etc... the worse the problem. Even at low levels of radio frequency radiation it causes terrible suffering. Please, please do something to help. Because of wireless technology I have had to withdraw from society many times and did not want to keep living because of the suffering. This is a big problem and more and more people are being affected. I have five cell towers within walking distance to my home. I cannot afford to move.

As one suffering human to another human I ask, beseach and implore you to have compassion. It could be you or your family. It may well be you in the near future if this doesn't stop. It does damage to every system in the body.

Sincerely,
Sherry Dingler
