ABOUT HAVANA SYNDROME / AHI ANOMALOUS HEALTH INCIDENTS
Havana Syndrome, AHI (Anomalous Health Incident) is a rare condition that causes sudden, unexplained symptoms in people, often after a loud sound is beamed into the Victims head. Some of the symptoms that have been reported include headaches, tinnitus (ringing in the ears), harassing external sounds &/or voices, vision problems, vertigo, cognitive difficulties like memory issues, dizziness, emotional distress, hearing loss, insomnia, electroshocks, Frey effect hearing,” caused by pulsed microwave radiation, painful arthritic type of stiffening when Victim stands or sits for short or long periods of time. It often begins with a perceived loud noise or pressure sensation in the head or ears, where some individuals developed brain trauma and others experienced mild to severe forms of these symptoms depending on the individual. The suspected cause is believed to be directed energy weapon(s).

334 Americans, including federal employees in the intelligence community, spies, active & inactive duty military, FBI agents, diplomats, at least 15 children also current and former staff from various other agencies, as well as their families had qualified for military health care for this condition. This number does not include those who didn't apply for treatment.

The Department of Defense (DoD) is currently researching and developing various scanning devices to detect directed energy weapons (DEWs), including high-speed, high-resolution cameras, specialized optical sensors, radar systems, and infrared imaging that can identify the unique characteristics of a DEW beam, such as its wavelength and power density, allowing for early detection and potential countermeasures. Also: RF power density meters that take measurements of radio frequency-pulsed microwave signal strength to alert authorities, staff, employees of when & where of dangerous levels.

AUDIO ANALYSIS

By AIMEE'S Audio Analysis, Ms. Amy Holem | Aimee's Audios | (815) 307-4619
| AimeesAudios@protonmail.com.

SUMMARY by Aimee's Audios:

Andrea Thomas is a victim of medical military projects authorized by congressional operations under their government program filed under medical. The military group is moving Andrea Thomas to an Asperger's project and into an autistic program, to continue surveillance and visual operations. With the military medical operations there are contracts with Raytheon, NATO, and additional military contractors. Some of the equipment that is being used on Andrea Thomas are EBS (Emergency Broadcast Systems) which are used for military, LE (Law Enforcement), FD (Fire Department), Amber Alerts, tornado warning systems, and many other military, federal, and local services. The military group is also selling equipment to unidentified users with the statement, "it's $900, that's stupid NATO equipment," and using a credit system. Some of the unidentified users are using personal equipment to attack Andrea Thomas as well.

Although the name of the Directed Energy Weapons (DEWs) Systems have not been identified there are airplanes, satellites, radio, kits, video cameras, surveillance systems that are still being used to target and harass Andrea Thomas. The group refers to Andrea consistently throughout the analysis and discovery as a "loser" and a "victim." The military group is aiming weapon systems and have jamming signals on the victim's home. There is a satellite phone that is being used along with medical equipment. One of the devices identified is called the elephant, which is an authenticated encryption scheme. Some of the locations where Andrea Thomas is being hit are the heart and temple.

- Satellite communications
- Underwater communications

Frequencies that have been identified with the spectrogram.

- Satellite communications on the lower end, at 15,281 hertz to 15,303.

- Common frequencies, Satellite communications seem to go down into a circle at 1,007 to 1,030 hertz range.
- Possible linking down or some tones at 1,148 to 1,170 hertz range.
- Common frequencies along 539 to 561 hertz
- A Communication 304 to 327 hertz
- Baseline at 23 to 45 hertz, more of the recording aspect.
- Some of the INDEBA communications goes down into 140 to 163 Hertz

About AIMEE'S Audios – Ms. Amy Holem owns the company Aimee's Audios Subliminal Acoustic Fingerprint, Inc. who identifies communications within a telecommunication network. Information collected varies depending on multiple components which include the clients, recording device, time, date, when, where the recording took place, and criminal network connection. Any questions regarding her forensic process you can reach out directly to the company for answers. The information within the report is what was discovered within a COMPLIMENTARY quick analysis from the 30 second recording of the above named Victim submitted for analysis. A brief summary is provided about the information within the recording and what was identified within the 30 minute zoom meeting.

What is a quick audio analysis? It is a process of listening to sounds that are embedded in an audio recording. There is a potential of information that can be discovered from names, locations, companies, weapons, networks, aerial/space/ground units, equipment, software, IT technology, and more. A quick review is considered a written transcript of information and communications that was captured within the audio analysis. This is a written transcript of communications/statements / communications discovered.

Why can't I hear the voices, sounds that were analyzed in my 30 second recording? Because humans cannot hear sounds BELOW 20 Hz which are called infrasound and sounds, voices ABOVE 20,000 Hz called ultrasound. Infrasound can also be felt as vibrations. Normally humans can hear frequencies from 20 to 20,000 Hz.

What are Undersea Telecommunication Cables?

Undersea telecommunication cables enable consumers, businesses, and governments, including the military, to communicate with each other and to access the internet. Private and state-owned telecommunication and technology companies operate about 486 undersea telecommunication cables, which connect every continent except Antarctica. These privately owned cables carry about 99% of transoceanic digital communications (e.g., voice, data, internet), including trillions of daily international financial transactions, and serve as the backbone for the global internet.
