Epstein File EFTA00080475: Explains how “driving people to commit suicide is a common practice” with directed energy weapons.

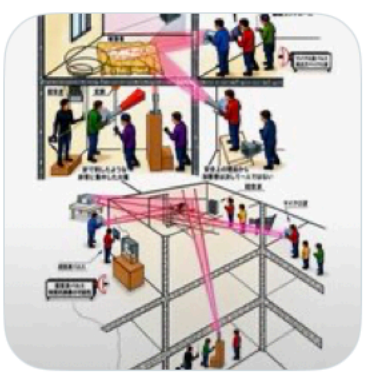

[redacted] and her husband [redacted] are leaders of a prostitution and child molesting and sex trafficking syndicate known as the Ashley Madison network. A large majority of the funding for said network is held in the accounts of capital investors and property they have acquired. Much of the property is used to house people with radio transmitters. These transmitters send a signal of RF, audio and video that are used to make people receive the signal in a way that interferes with their central nervous system. These transmitter people use extensive conditioning techniques to make people experience tactile, auditory and visual hallucinations. It is used extensively to molest children. These transmitters often are readily visible from the street as a satellite dishes. Between the radio signal that is recorded of a person near a transceiver and the conditioning, people who hear the transmission begin to experience sensations similar to the person who made the recording. This Ham Radio technique makes it seem as though people are hearing voices and feeling these other hallucinations that often resemble sexual interactions with other people. This technology is what was used to communicate to and harass Jeffrey Epstein while in prison. Driving people to commit suicide is a common practice with these transmitters. They also frequently attempt to replicate break-ins and home invasions. For some reason, people who have them meddle in the lives of others and attempt to cause as much harm as possible.
