

does 600 me...

4. Electromagnetic Hypersensitivity (EHS)

Some individuals report experiencing symptoms like headaches, fatigue, and sleep disturbances, which they attribute to exposure to RF radiation.

However, controlled scientific studies have generally failed to prove a causal link between these symptoms and the physical presence of electromagnetic fields. National Institut... +1

Bottom Line: At typical, everyday exposure levels, 600 MHz is widely deemed safe by health authorities. If you are concerned about

Home

Search

Images

Notificati...

Activity

