

I am submitting this statement to formally document my experiences, the health effects I have endured, reports I have made, and evidence I have worked to preserve.

These experiences have occurred on a continuing basis, which I describe as 24/7/365, and have affected my health, safety, home, vehicle, travel, family, animals, finances, relationships, and ability to participate normally in my community.

I am requesting a formal, independent, multidisciplinary investigation involving appropriate medical, scientific, engineering, cybersecurity, RF/EMF, acoustic, forensic, and law-enforcement expertise to examine the available evidence and determine what can be independently established.

WHAT I HAVE EXPERIENCED

I have experienced continuing incidents that I identify as involving electronic, electromagnetic, RF, acoustic, environmental, and physical activity. These experiences have included unusual RF/EMF signals, suspected biosensor/RFID scanning, suspected electronic interference or hacking, vehicle and property damage, surveillance concerns, harassment, and incidents occurring inside my home, while traveling, walking, and participating in everyday activities.

I have also experienced incidents involving my family and animals and have documented circumstances involving community responses and interactions with law enforcement that I believe require further examination.

I have consistently worked to preserve dates, locations, photographs, videos, communications, reports, technical findings, medical information, and other evidence associated with these experiences.

VOICE, AUDIO, AND SEXUALIZED EXPERIENCES

Beginning in January 2026, I began experiencing persistent voices, sounds, and audio phenomena that I experience as occurring without an identifiable ordinary source. I experience some of these communications as transmitted rather than originating from an identifiable person physically present with me.

These experiences have also included what I identify as sexualized acts, sounds, and voice/audio phenomena. I experience these events as occurring without my consent and as part of the continuing experiences I have been documenting.

I am documenting these experiences as part of my personal account and am requesting that qualified professionals independently examine the circumstances, evidence, and any identifiable medical, neurological, acoustic, technological, or other explanations.

PUBLIC RECORD RELEVANT TO MY REQUEST

While researching the voice/audio component of my experiences, I located Banks v. Plymouth County Superior Court et al., Civil Action No. 26-cv-13896-LTS, U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts, order dated August 25, 2026. The court order records claims presented by Frederick Banks concerning an alleged CIA wireless signal sent via satellite to Lindsay Clancy and alleged video and audio transmission that he claimed told, controlled, and directed her to commit crimes. I understand that these matters were presented as claims in the petition and that the order does not establish those allegations as factual findings.

I am including this public record because of its subject matter and because my own experiences include persistent voice/audio phenomena and experiences that I perceive as affecting or interacting with my behavior, thoughts, responses, sleep, and physical functioning.

I am requesting that qualified professionals independently examine whether any identifiable technical, medical, acoustic, neurological, or other mechanism may be relevant.

HEALTH EFFECTS AND REPORTED SYMPTOMS

The continuing experiences have been accompanied by significant physical and health effects, including:

- Tinnitus and ringing in the ears
- Ear pain and pressure
- Hearing-related changes and sensitivity
- Vestibular and balance problems
- Headaches and head pressure
- Burning and unusual physical sensations
- Electric-shock or nerve-like sensations
- Occipital neuralgia
- Dizziness and vertigo
- Sleep disruption and repeated awakening

- Fatigue and effects on daily functioning
- Other sensory and physical symptoms documented through my records

I report that I have been diagnosed with Havana Syndrome, also referred to in U.S. government materials as an Anomalous Health Incident (AHI).

Based on my experiences, medical history, continuing incidents, and technical evidence, I am requesting examination of possible electromagnetic, radio-frequency, acoustic, directed-energy, and other technological mechanisms that qualified experts determine may be relevant, including my requested examination of Directed Energy Bioweapons (D.E.B.E.).

A separate supporting document titled “Electromagnetic Frequency (EMF), Potential Sources, and Reported Ascension Symptoms” accompanies this statement. It provides a more detailed framework for the reported physical, neurological, sensory, sleep-related, and functional symptoms and potential EMF/RF exposure categories.

RF AND NLJD DOCUMENTATION

An important part of my evidence record is the completion of RF and Non-Linear Junction Detector (NLJD) scans conducted with Jesse Beltran.

These scans were conducted to document RF activity and nonlinear electronic responses associated with environments and incidents I reported. I have preserved associated technical information, testing information, dates, locations, findings, and supporting documentation.

The scan findings have also been accepted for publication in Acta Scientific Medical Sciences (ASMS), Volume 10, Issue 10, October 1, 2026, according to the publication information available to me.

I am requesting independent examination of the underlying scan data, equipment, methodology, environmental conditions, and findings by appropriately qualified technical professionals rather than relying solely upon the existence of a publication.

OTHER PRESERVED EVIDENCE

My evidence record includes, where available:

- RF and NLJD scan results
- Photographs and videos
- Medical records and symptom documentation
- Police reports and incident records
- Communications with government and law-enforcement agencies
- Documentation concerning suspected electronic interference or hacking
- Vehicle and property damage documentation
- Information concerning suspected surveillance or tracking
- Environmental and electronic observations

- Dates, locations, and recurring incident patterns
- Evidence concerning voice and audio experiences
- Other materials that may assist qualified investigators

WHY A FORMAL INVESTIGATION IS NEEDED

I am requesting a formal investigation because the information I have preserved spans multiple areas that cannot be adequately examined through a single discipline or by considering each incident in isolation.

The record involves reported health effects, medical documentation, recurring environmental circumstances, RF/NLJD measurements, electronic and cybersecurity concerns, audio and voice experiences, perceived behavioral effects, photographs, videos, property and vehicle documentation, communications with authorities, and other evidence collected over time.

A coordinated investigation would allow qualified professionals to examine whether individual pieces of information can be independently verified, whether separate records correspond in time or location, whether technical findings are reproducible, whether medical findings correspond with documented events, and whether additional evidence or testing is necessary.

REQUEST FOR FORMAL INVESTIGATION

I respectfully request a coordinated investigation that includes, as appropriate:

1. Examination of my RF and NLJD findings and underlying technical data;
2. Review of the Acta Scientific Medical Sciences publication and underlying methodology;
3. Independent RF/EMF, electromagnetic-environment, acoustic, and engineering examination;

4. Medical and neurological evaluation of the health effects and symptoms I have experienced;
5. Appropriate professional evaluation of the reported voice/audio experiences;
6. Cybersecurity and electronic-forensics examination where appropriate;
7. Review of police, government, medical, and other reports previously submitted;
8. Examination of relationships among dates, locations, environmental conditions, reported technology, voice/audio experiences, perceived behavioral effects, sleep disruption, and physical symptoms; and
9. Preservation and examination of available evidence that may help establish what occurred, what mechanisms may be involved, and what additional investigation may be warranted.

CLOSING REQUEST

I am not reporting an isolated event. I am documenting a continuing experience that has affected multiple areas of my life and for which I have worked to preserve supporting information over time.

I am asking that my experiences, health effects, medical documentation, technical findings, RF/NLJD testing, voice/audio experiences, photographs, videos, reports, public-record materials, and other preserved evidence be formally received and independently examined as a complete record. I respectfully request that this submission and its attachments be preserved, reviewed, and referred to the appropriate medical, scientific, technical, forensic, and investigative authorities for further examination.

I will place this confirmation number in the next submission for additional references.
