Dear Persons at the FCC

I am writing to ask you to reconsider the exposure standards for human exposure to radio frequency radiation. The current standards are far too loose - they say that harm only comes when flesh is heated by the radiation. I am electronically hypersensitive. My life and career and health have been if not ruined at least seriously harmed and compromised by the massive influx and increase in radio frequency radiation since the mid - 1990's.

I first noticed that if I was within six to ten feet of a microwave oven and when it was on I would feel a sensation of pressure in my head. That was in 1992. In 1996 my son got a cell phone and when I tried it I could feel not only pressure and a weird sensation all through my head, but also pain in my ears and a sense of anxiety. I decided not to get a cell phone. Today, if I use one, same thing.

In 1995 a friend gave me a cordless phone with an answering machine attached. I rapidly began waking up three or four times a night, not having the nightly dreams I was used to, and feeling anxious when I was on the phone. My ears started hurting again when I used it. I gave it away in 2001 and began sleeping/ dreaming normally again. I have a corded phone now.

But the proliferation of wi fi, cell towers and cell phones has destroyed my life. I live in a relatively rural area and yet we now have multiple cell towers and huge overlapping wi fi fields from everyone's wi fi - which intersect and form 'rogue' frequencies - not only does it fuzz out the fm radio signals all along the main drags of Mendocino and Fort Bragg but it means that I am nauseous, headachy, irritable and sick whenever I spend more than 20 minutes in any urban area or public venue - or even a friend's house. I can drink alcohol to mask the sick feeling but can't handle the double hangover that happens later as I detox from both the booze and the lingering effects of the radiofrequencies.

In 2006 I almost died from the combination of metal poisoning from the water where I lived and the five fold increase in the effects of microwave radiation due to the tenfold increase in aluminum and copper in my system. I became a human antenna for several years. I would scream with pain as the sensation of icepicks in my ears came when I came within a quarter mile of a cell tower signal or anywhere with several cell phones on or wi fi on. I got rid of about half of the metal (chelation) but the sensitivity has not abated. It gets worse as the radiation increases. (more)

Just to be clear: in these fields I experience head pressure and headaches, nausea, weird metallic tastes in the back of my throat, tinnitus, heart arrhythmia, 20 to 40 point increases in my blood pressure, irritability, confusion & brainfog. I can't sleep well. I don't dream well. I feel like I'm on bad speed (ergo, amphetamine/uppers.)

Before microwave radiation disabled me (that is between 1978-2002) - I used to travel all over the world as a performing musician and doing workshops as a consulting astrologer/ counselor/ writer. I could travel in the USA as well and did. Now I have to drive my old non-electronic Volvo wherever I want to go and stay either in my car in a canyon or isolated place away from radiation or at the occasional friend's house who doesn't have wi fi. My income is destroyed. I feel sick a lot of the time and my access to 'civilized' life is severely impaired. I can spend only limited time on a computer, even one with a flat screen. I am getting nauseated and my skin itches as I write this.

I cannot fly in an airplane or feel ok in an airport. I can't even take the train or most buses anymore. I am sickened by the wi fi/ cell phones/ fluorescent bulbs in our local clinic and hospitals. I can't stay in a motel or hotel, go to a public library or state park, do jury duty or go to the courthouse without getting very ill within 10 minutes to an hour or so depending on the strength of the field...

Devastated economically, I earn a very small income working close to home and within about a 150 mile radius from where I live. I can't even safely or comfortably visit my kids or relatives - they live in major cities with radiofrequency fields everywhere. And finding a place to live that is shielded from wi fi and cell signals - it is nearly impossible especially since I have been impoverished by my sensitivity.

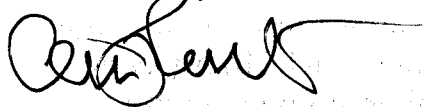

Please revisit and redefine the standards for exposure to microwave radiation immediately. This technology is NOT regulated in any meaningful way. My life and the lives of so many have been destroyed or severely impaired by this deadly but lucrative for many technology.

I am sure that we all knew that cigarettes were harmless (due to the financial influence of the cigarette companies and the desire of people to smoke) and I am sure that the insistence that radiofrequency radiation is safe has a lot to do with money and power and the addictive convenience of this technology. Please demonstrate that there is at least one agency in the US that has integrity.

Thank you
