“Although long-term human health studies have yet to be completed on 5G frequencies in this relatively new use of the technology, I believe it would be short sighted to dismiss health concerns until adequate and comprehensive studies have been conducted,”

-U.S. Congressman Christopher Smith to Verizon

